Summary

Experienced mathematics and computer science educator with over a decade in NYC public schools. Passionate about integrating computing into math education to build students' problem-solving skills. Committed to fostering an inclusive, collaborative, and reflective classroom where students develop fluency in computational and mathematical thinking. Skilled in curriculum design, data management, and teacher training.

Certifications

Experience

Education